Farmers of Canada are once again advised by the administrator of farm machinery not to dispose of old tractors or other rationing units unless they have a permit to buy new machinery, because the present system of rationing has to be continued until supplies of equipment are more nearly in line with consumer demands. Parts to keep present equipment in shape are not rationed—there are plenty of them available. The supply of farm machinery for 1945 will be equal in tonnage to approximately 102% of the 1940 supply but it will not be nearly enough for the apparent supply. The policy has been to take off the rationed list any equipment as the supply situation warrants, and at present there are 36 lines unrated.

The Department of Labour has issued a report which shows that the general index number for wage rates in the 13 chief lines of industrial employment in Canada rose to 105.7 in 1939. The figure of 100 points represents the average wage level for the period 1925 to 1939. The index numbers relate only to wage rates, including cost of living being paid for normal working hours, and overtime rates and actual total earnings of employees were not taken into consideration when the figures were compiled.

Here's a word from the consumer branch for milady. People who like to give stockings as gifts (not the kind that are hung on the mantle) should find more in the shops this year—no Nylon, of course, but larger quantities of rayon hose from acetate. They are not of viscose yarns, for synthetic fibres have first claim on the viscose. Stockings made from acetate are just as serviceable, they say, as those made from viscose yarns, provided they receive the same care. Washing after every wearing and drying away from direct heat for at least 36 hours are two "musts" in making rayon stockings last.

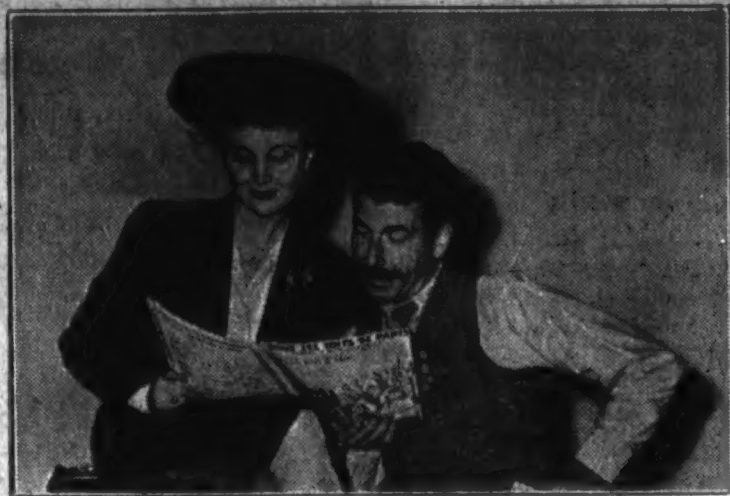

Canada's external trade during the first eight months of 1944 reached $2,282,000,000 compared with $1,874,000,000 in the same period of the previous year. Receiving a larger volume of Canadian commodities were the United Kingdom, United States, the U.S.S.R., British India and Italy.

With the Seventh Victory Loan going so well over the top, it is interesting to note that savings deposits in Canadian chartered banks at the end of September last year totalled $1,988,904,000. The Sixth Victory Loan took a big slice out of these savings, yet at the end of September, 1944, savings deposits had reached a new all-time high with $2,464,187,000. The national income has been high and is maintaining a steady climb.

Failure to comply with National Selective Service civilian regulations brought prosecutions in October which exceeded those of the month before, states a report issued in Ottawa by the director. There were 122 convicted as against 94 in September. Seven employers who engaged workers without permits were convicted, and of the 78 employees the majority were for "quitting" employment without permission or not taking high priority work when referred by a Selective Service officer. Convicted also were 37 conscientious objectors. At November 1, there were still 342 cases pending, 133 of them against objectors.

Here's a thought for Canada's place in the post-war market picture. The Canadian Federation of Agriculture which has its head offices in Ottawa gives the latest facts regarding the wartime progress of British agriculture. Wheat acreage in England and Wales is 82% higher than in 1930. The area in potatoes has more than doubled, and there is an increase of 63% in the area of horticultural crops. Total arable acreage is 63% above the pre-war level.

Henry Ruste Elected

Chairman of Co-Op

On Monday afternoon, February 19 the Wainwright and District Co-operative Association held their first annual meeting with L. A. Myggland chairman and H. U. Taylor, Secretary.

Mr. Myggland gave the directors report which showed very good progress for two months of the organization. The Co-operative store is taking over business from the Alma Food Market, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Sawyer of this town.

Nine directors were elected from 16 nominations. These are as follows: Henry Ruste, D. Rattray, Sr., H. King and J. Perkins were elected for two years and C. Graumke, N. G. Valleeau, A. T. Smale, J. Stiner and A. Plater were elected for one year.

Immediately after the meeting the directors elected Henry Ruste, Chairman; Dave Rattray, Sr., Vice Chairman and Jack Perkins, Secretary. Mr. Stiner and Mr. Rattray were elected as the staff personnel committee.

Mrs. D. Rattray, Sr., is suffering with blood poison in her hand. We wish her a speedy recovery.

1,882,790 men and women at the beginning of September. Manufacturing establishments at that time showed a little heightened activity with a gain of 6,249 employees. This increase is the smallest at the beginning of September in any year since 1936. There was a further reduction in the production of durable manufactured goods, mostly iron and steel products. Expansion was above average and showed important gains in the vegetable food preserving industry, it is noted.

A survey of the world wheat situation issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics indicates that as a result of the prospects of short wheat supplies in Australia, Canada may be called on to make shipments to India and the Middle East, which usually get their grain from Australia. With an estimate early in October of only 50,000,000 bushels, Australia has the smallest crop since 1919. Stocks have been disappearing there because of the large demands by military establishments. Argentina will not have a big crop, that is certain, and will probably only cover domestic requirements, which are about 110,000,000 bushels. Its present carry-over, about 177,000,000 bushels, will cover probable 1945 exports. No definite information is apparently yet available on needs for liberated Europe, but these will be heavy; unofficial guess is 10,000,000 bushels for Italy, which is reported to have harvested a wheat crop of 245,000,000 bushels with about 120,000,000 in the liberated part. France's food situation is said to be better than other countries, but Canadian wheat is moving in by way of Lisbon, Greece, of course, will need outside help in abundance. The United Kingdom reports a wheat crop of 118,000,000 bushels. The 1939 crop was only 61,800,000 bushels.

Odds and ends: Retail purchasing in Canada measured by 12 trades dealing mainly in clothing, food and household requirements was up 14% in September from the same month last year.—The total sugar beet crop of 1944 is now placed at 604,000 tons, 78% greater than 1943.—There are in Canada today about 35,000 members of junior farm clubs in a variety of farm and farm home projects—hooking, but true—national authorities say more than 800,000 Canadians have venereal disease, hence the accent on the current national D. campaign.

Movies Speed

Wartime Training

The mission of motion pictures in wartime has expanded far beyond their peacetime use for today they are helping to train soldiers, sailors and airmen; to record training and battle action; to train industrial workers rapidly and effectively. points out R. E. Norrish of Associated Screen News writing in C-I-L Oval.

The nation, too, is making ever-increasing use of film material to explain, to exhort to greater effort, to encourage thrift, to make fewer civilian goods stretch farther.

In wartime, film production crews have turned from fiction to fact. They have focused cameras on scene diagram and cartoon character to teach the fighting man how to do his job more efficiently. Such films not only shorten his training period; they give him a broader base of knowledge in the use of weapons and the protection of his own fighting efficiency.

In the future motion pictures will be used commercially to oil the wheels of distribution, to help keep rolling the products of Canada's expanded industry. Salesmen will use films to help sell more goods. Manufacturers and distributors will use the motion picture to show dealers more efficient, more aggressive marketing methods. And the film will be used in consumer education—to show what a product is, how it can be used, how to get the best dollar value in service from that product.

In the industrial plant films will be used in job instruction, to aid in the achievement of more efficient production processes, in health and safety education, in recreation and employer-employee relations programs and in public relations and community service.

Class-rooms of the nation will use teaching films to far greater extent than ever before. Teaching efficiency is going to be stepped up with audiovisual aids after the war.

Observe Day Of Prayer In St. Andrew's Church

Answering the call of Christian women all over the world to observe a Special Day of Prayer, about 60 or more Wainwright women of all Protestant Churches observed an hour of special intercession Friday afternoon in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

The programme was arranged by the missionary societies of the Anglican, United and Presbyterian Churches.

Mrs. A. R. Hancock led the world day of prayer service in the absence of Mrs. F. E. Dixon, general convenor.

Those taking part were Mrs. Arkwright, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Brant representing the Anglican Church. Mrs. Joyce, Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Pickard representing the United Church. Mrs. Hutchinson, Mrs. Lowe, Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. Sutherland representing the Presbyterian Church.

Responses to the prayers were sung by the congregation with Miss J. Billings as organist.

W.I. Entertain Visitor At Regular Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Wainwright W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Torrance on Thursday, Feb. 28th. There were 12 members and two visitors present. The roll call was answered by stump speeches.

Among the business dealt with, a committee was appointed to arrange a card party to be held on Wednesday, Feb. 28th. It was planned to draw for the quilt being raffled as soon as can be arranged. Mrs. F. Murray, District Director for District No. 2 was a visitor and addressed the members. She spoke of the danger of inflation and said that the W.I. members should do their part to help prevent this happening in our country. She also said what a wonderful work the W.I. women were doing for the Merchant Marines in knitting and filling Ditty Bags and how much this work was appreciated by those who benefited by it. She pointed out to the members that all women must realize their responsibility in the work of reconstruction in the post war world.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Stiner on Thursday, March 8th. Roll call to be answered by an Irish joke.

Hostesses Mrs. Torrance and Mrs. Wilbraham.

W.H.S. NOTES

The Student's Union held a meeting on Friday last to decide upon a new date for the Ice Carnival which had to be postponed due to cold weather at the week-end. It was decided that Saturday, February 24th be the date set, weather permitting.

We have lost another of our 'few' High School boys this week in the person of Wallace Snyder who has been accepted in the Navy and leaves this week to commence his training.

At the hockey game Monday night between the Wainwright and Chauvin the score was 6-2 in favour of Wainwright.

McKillop, M.B.E., highly praised for his handling of a C.P.R.-operated ship on D-Day; and Chief Engineer E. E. Vick, O.B.E., awarded Lloyd's War Medal late in 1944 "for bravery at sea".

Farm Mechanics School Closes With Banquet

The dining room of the Wainwright Hotel was filled to capacity Friday evening, when under the sponsorship of the Municipal Council of M.D. Wainwright and the Wainwright and District Board of Trade, a banquet was held.

This banquet marked the close of a highly successful three weeks course in maintenance repair and operation of mechanical farm equipment.

Honorary guests at the banquet in addition to all the young men attending the courses included Mr. R. Putnam of the Extension Dept. U. of A.; Mr. Townley Smith, District Agriculturalist; Mr. H. Catlow, representative of McCall Frontenac Oil Co.; Mr. Locke, instructor in charge of the school.

The banquet was presided over by Mr. P. M. Armistead of the Wainwright and District Board of Trade, who briefly announced the purpose of the gathering, and who called upon each student to rise and give his name. A few words of welcome were given by Mr. L. W. Smith and Mr. Glen Valleeau, Doug. Roach and Fred Ford responded for the students.

Mr. Putnam gave an address outlining the work of the Vocational Training Act, in so far as education for agriculture was concerned, followed by an address given by Mr. Townley-Smith. A brief resume of a film to be shown after the banquet was given by Mr. H. Catlow, and finally an address by Mr. Locke, and his remarks of appreciation to the students for their attention given during the classes.

The gathering then proceeded to the Town Hall where a showing of an educational film depicting the care and operation of farm machinery was given, at the end of which the gathering departed for their homes, with the thought in mind that this course had been most successful, and with the hopes that a bigger and better instructional school will be held at Wainwright next winter.

Tighten Used

Cars Regulations

Effective immediately, a new order announced by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, revises price regulations, requires the licensing of all used cars dealers and is calculated to ensure equitable distribution of used cars at fair prices.

For the purpose of the order, cars for sale are divided into two types, reconditioned and non-reconditioned, and every car for sale by dealer must bear this information on the price tag. In cases of non-reconditioned types, the tag must show the estimated cost of reconditioning the vehicle to proper running order. Ceiling prices announced last August now apply only to cars sold by dealers as reconditioned. The same range of prices, less the cost of reconditioning the car to good operating condition or at least 10% of the ceiling price, covers other types, whether sold by dealers or private individuals. An elaboration of the schedule provides that ceiling prices of cars 10 years old and over are 25% of the value when new.

When a dealer sells a car as reconditioned, a 30-day warrant in favour of the purchaser is implied. Cars found in poor operating condition within the 30-day period must be repaired or replacement made at a charge not exceeding 50% of the lawful maximum price allowed for labour and parts.

All persons operating or intending to start a business of buying or selling used cars must apply to the Board for permits if they intend to continue such business after March 31, 1945. No permit will be issued to dealers without facilities for repairing or reconditioning cars. After March 31, no one not holding a new permit may deal in used cars.

Dealers may not retain more vehicles for personal or service use than they operated at anytime during 1943.

tax loss to the State must be steadily increasing and must now be very large, according to the brief.

The Canadian Retail Federation takes the stand that under a free economy any legitimate form of retail distribution which adequately fills a public need is fair competition provided that such competitive form of retail distribution does the Excess Profits Tax Act 1940 be amended to make it clear beyond question that the so-called "savings" of co-operatives are in reality taxable income.

Liberal Aim Equal Share In Benefits

OTTAWA—New light on the distribution of family allowance payments has been given by Hon. Brooks Claxton, minister of national health and welfare. The figures reveal that, contrary to some statements Quebec will more than carry its fair share of the cost. Best estimates show that, for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1945, the province of Quebec paid 34.4 per cent of the total of all federal revenue. Quebec's share of family allowance payments will be about 32 per cent of the total, so that no federal taxes collected in Ontario or any other province will go toward children's payments in Quebec. On the contrary, that province is likely to contribute slightly to children's allowance payments elsewhere in Canada.

Equality of Social Services in all parts of Canada. The principle of equality of social services in all parts of Canada is included in the children's allowance program. For example, the maritime provinces pay about 3.6 of total federal taxes, but they will get about 10 per cent of the total family allowance payments. Similarly the prairie provinces pay 6.2 per cent of federal revenue but will receive about 20 per cent of the allowance outlay. The wealthier provinces of British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec will contribute toward children's houses in the Maritimes and in the prairie provinces.

Family Allowances Stimulate Employment. This is not as charitable as it seems, although it only conforms to the objective to which most thinking Canadians subscribe—that benefits from Canadian social measures should be shared impartially by all. The fact is that a good deal of the money which goes to corporations in Ontario and Quebec, and which contributes to federal revenue collected in these provinces, is paid by residents of other sections of Canada. It is paid in insurance premiums, mortgage interest, purchases of goods and equipment made in the wealthier provinces and in other ways. It is not regarded as unfair by fiscal experts, therefore, that some of this money should be returned to other parts of Canada in the distribution of family allowances and in other ways. Mr. Claxton predicts that children's allowances will result in great improvement in the health of all Canadian young people. He also stressed the great economic advantage of the allowances plan. Purchasing power it provides will help keep industrial workers employed and will enable Canadians to purchase more largely of farm products of all kinds. It will, he says, help to stimulate prosperity for people in all parts of the dominion, in both rural and urban sections.

Dominion-Provincial Conference Possible about Easter. National health insurance and old age pensions to be paid on a more liberal scale and at a younger age than at present, are two proposals which the federal government will bring before the dominion-provincial conference. It is understood that plans now are to hold the conference as soon as possible after the federal general election. This may mean that the dominion and provinces will get together about Easter. Though all provinces favor such a meeting, it proved difficult to arrange a date satisfactory to them all. Provincial elections and holding sessions of various legislatures at different times proved obstacles. Premier King has made it plain that, in view of the conference not having been possible to date, he feels the federal governments elected for the reconstruction period should participate in it. For that reason, it will not be held until after the federal election. The federal government in office then will be in a position to carry out any commitments or arrangements it agrees to at the conference.

WAINWRIGHT, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 21st, 1945

HOW ABOUT

HONEST APOLOGY

The futility of following a policy of appeasement rather than being guided by principles stands out like a sore thumb wherever you go in the Province of Quebec. This policy on the part of the English has resulted in pressure on the part of the French. And instead of building teamwork the final outcome of a relationship like this can only be a complete break or some kind of civil war such as is being experienced in Europe today.

The French language papers this week have been commenting on the present political trends in the country. One in particular pointed out how the general swing from a two party form of government to a multi-party set-up will react very favourably towards the French Canadian minorities. For, it points out, if they can remain united, while English opinion is divided, they will be able to wield considerable balance of power. "One political deal to merchandise - a policy of bargaining," was what this paper was advocating.

The blame for this appeasement policy cannot be laid at the foot of any one group or party. Fundamentally, as was very evident in the last election, every phase of English political leadership has "apple polished" for the Quebec vote. Lacking a guiding principle large enough for everyone to unite on, we've had to resort to compromise and political wangling.

Many of the French have resented this attitude very deeply. How deeply it's hard to say, but the effect it has had was very evident during a small, intimate discussion on the conscription issue recently. "There's little difference to us," said one of the French Canadians, "between British domination and German domination. If the Germans took over some of us might be martyred, but at least we'd know where we stood."

The man who said this, however, admitted that the blame wasn't all one-sided. He said that the thinking of himself and his friends never got beyond the province and Canada. "It isn't mean much to them; and their fear of domination had warped their perspective and made them jealous to guard their rights. However there was real eagerness on his part to find a solution."

A key to what that solution might be was shown during another discussion with some French speaking Canadians. At one point in the conversation the wife of the personnel director of a large industry said she thought that more than 50% of the blame for the difference lay with herself and the rest of the English. Whereupon a French speaking editor across the room rose up and took great exception and said that the fault was much more on the French speaking side. A little more of this sort of disagreement would bring us much closer together.

A thousand years of history may be at stake as the Big Three met to find a common plan. The happiness, lives and freedom of hundreds of millions of people depend on the decisions they made. They have to find their way through a welter of opposing interests. Greece, Poland, Belgium already show the clash of economic forces, ideologies and faiths which must be reckoned with. The Big Three have to find a plan which may not please everyone but will be acceptable to all.

We expect them to do it. But we can do more than great expectations. We can undergird their efforts.

It is a simple matter of multiplication. The Big Three are expected to find a common mind, to work together. But there are little threats in every country, every office every farm, round every fire. The Big Three achieve, total victory will only be won by the pull-together spirit of all the little threes. The Big Three find a plan. It has to be translated in terms of people. That is the real job.

President Roosevelt said recently, "Peace can be made and kept only by the united determination of free and peace loving people, who are willing to work and fight together in perfect co-operation and harmony."

We have got to get together with the people on each side of us. That makes three. The problems are the same for all—differences of personality, background, point of view, nationality. Plain speaking helps, but not when it is one-sided. When we speak as honestly of our own mistakes and failings as we sometimes do about others, then plain speaking becomes a basis for teamwork.

For there is more to teamwork than getting along together. It is no easy going policy of live and let live. Teamwork is a fighting alliance. It means every family out to build sound home life, every section out to bring unity to the nation, every nation playing its full part in building a world that works.

Reinstatement Of

School Teachers

A note of warning that school boards must be prepared to reinstate any of their teachers who have been serving with the Armed Services, was sounded by Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour, in a statement issued to the press.

"In a few cases which have come to the notice of the Department of Labour," the Labour Minister said, "It appears that some school boards have got into difficulties by forgetting that the Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act requires them to reinstate their teachers after discharge from the Armed Services just as other employees must be reinstated. School boards should protect themselves when engaging substitutes to replace teachers who have gone into the Armed Services, by inserting a clause in the contract that the engagement of the substitute may be terminated after the return of the teacher from the Forces."

The Minister said that some school boards have taken the necessary precautions, and that so far cases where difficulties have arisen are not numerous. However, Hon. Mr. Mitchell expressed the hope that all boards would make the necessary provision in engaging teachers as replacements for those with the Services.

"Boards might well consult with the Employment and Selective Service Offices, which administer the Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act," the Labour Minister added.

Canadian Indian

Harvesters

Canadian Indians played an important part in the harvesting of the 1944 prairie grain crop. It was disclosed today by A. MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service.

In the province of Saskatchewan, more than 3,500 men from local reserves volunteered to help with the harvesting when their own farm operations were completed. Officials of the Indian Affairs Branch of the Department of Mines and Resources stated:

"... It is safe to say that every Indian available in the province was out thrashing... If it had not been for the Indians (in some areas) the thrashing would probably have had to be finished in the spring..."

In Manitoba, many of the Indians live north of the grain growing districts, and it was necessary to send a special agent to the reserves north of Lake Winnipeg to recruit harvest help.

In August, 603 Indians were brought south to help with the grain harvest. Total time worked by volunteers came to 12,024 days—an average of 20.6 days per man—for which they received a total of $48,000.00 in wages.

MIKE'S VIEW ON

THE CEMETERY

"Hi, Joe, what are ye doin'?" "Just reading The Wainwright Star," said Joe, looking up at his friend Mike.

"Begorra, but ye're the lucky one!" exclaimed Mike, dropping himself down beside Joe. "It's entirely daild O' am, O've been workin' that 'ard an' O'm that tired."

Joe chuckled. "If ye're 'entirely dead' ye won't feel tired! But don't die just yet, Mike, or I'll cost your bank account about five bucks anyway for a long-lasting bed in the cemetery out yonder, to say nothing of funeral expenses."

"Shure an' it's right ye are," opined Mike, rolling his "r's" nearly into one another. "It's mighty high a lad foinds the cost o' livin' these days whether ye're alive or daild! Who gets this folve dollars O' have to pay to get meself buried?"

"Oh, that goes into the town revenue along with our taxes," Joe answered, turning the pages of The Wainwright Star he held in his hand. He turned to page 4 of the issue of January 24th, 1945. "See, here it is. They received $145.00 from the cemetery during 1944."

"Hiviny saints!" burst out Mike. "An' what do they do with all that money they make out of us after we're daild an' buried? Do they give us lots of pretty dailies to push up?"

Joe started to thoughtfully scratch the favorite "thinking" spot on his head.

"Say now," he said, "ye've asked something there, for come to think of it, the town cemetery doesn't look any too well looked after—not many of those 'pretty dailies' as ye call them, I see here in the paper they spent only $47.15 in the whole year on the cemetery. I guess they must have used that extra money, let's see $94.85 to be exact, in the town expenses."

"The town expenses! An' just what might they be for now?" asked Mike, growing more incensed. "Well," answered Joe, "there's a lot of expenses to running a town. There's streets to be maintained in the day and to be lighted at night—"

"But they be no good to me after O'm sleeping in me coffin," cried Mike. "An' what else?"

"Let's see, there's the hospital, and school requisitions for education, scavenging, and—"

"Arr-r-r-r," interrupted Mike with emphasis. "They'll all be too late for me then!"

"—And there's the Fire Department," added Joe with a merry twinkle in his eye at Mike. "Perhaps ye'll need that!"

"No, no, me lad," replied Mike, a softer tone entering his voice; "after the good Lord givin' His life for all the world includin' the likes o' me, O'll be in the good place, never fear. But tell me, Joe, be it really true the town is makin' money from the cemetery an' spendin' it to help get the likes of them things ye spoke of, and for which we pay our taxes regular?"

"I'm afraid so, Mike," said Joe.

"I think the town ought to see to it that they spend at least as much in beautifying the cemetery as they make out of it. They could give that $95—or even $100—to someone, perhaps an old age pensioner who loves gardening, to clean out weeds, corners, trim the grass regularly, and a few things like that, and make the cemetery into a credit to our community."

"O' think the same with you, lad," said Mike softly. "Ye feel as though both the livin' and the daild would rest a bit sweeter with a beautiful place out yonder."

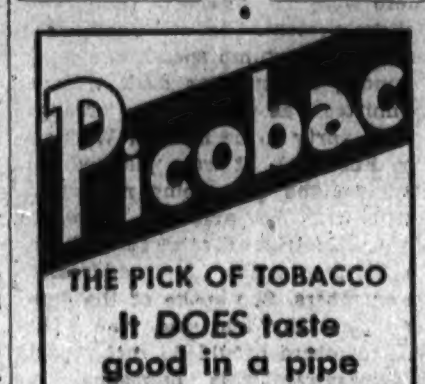

—"A 'Star' Reader."

COWS NEED SALT

Feeds generally used in dairy rations do not contain salt, and for that reason it must be added.

Salt is a mineral that can be self-fed without danger of over-feeding, but certain cows may not eat enough to take care of their requirement. A good practice is to add 1 lb. of salt to each 100 lbs. of the grain mixture. In that way, you make sure that the heavy producing cows with the highest salt requirement will consume the most salt.

Even when salt is fed at this rate, additional amounts should be made available by allowing the cattle access to either a box of loose salt or to block salt.

VITAMINS FOR SOWS

In the summer when brood sows are on good pasture there's little cause to worry about vitamin requirements. During the winter, however, vitamins must be provided from other sources.

Vitamin A and D are very important. Vitamin A is the growth or anti-infection vitamin. It keeps the surface tissues of the body in a healthy condition so that they may resist bacterial infection. Vitamin D is essential for proper mineral assimilation.

To overcome any deficiency of these vitamins fish oil should be added to the grain ration or well cured green alfalfa hay should be fed. The use of legume hay, particularly alfalfa if properly cured, not only helps to meet the vitamin requirements of brood sows but also supplies some of the much needed calcium and protein.

ICE WELLS AS A MEANS OF

KEEPING CREAM COLD & SWEET

Thousands of dollars have been lost annually by Alberta Cream Producers because of the lack of some efficient and economical means of keeping the cream sweet and cool until it is delivered to the creamery. Ice wells constructed by many farmers have served as an excellent means of holding cream at low temperatures during the hot summer months. Not only is the ice well very convenient in keeping cream thoroughly chilled, but it is economical both to build and operate. Ice can be stored during the winter months with a minimum of labour and expense.

D. H. McCallum, Dairy Commissioner, advises that the first consideration in constructing an ice well is choice of the site. Since the well is in constant use from spring until fall it must be in a convenient place with clean surroundings. It should not be placed too near the barnyard or any place where foul odours could be absorbed by the cream. A site should be chosen where there is good drainage for the melted ice and where surface water can't seep into the well.

The size of the well may vary as to the need of the producer. The smaller the top surface with greater depth of ice, the more efficient the well. To keep the well from caving in and dirt from falling into the well, a cribbing of rough lumber should be used. A cement collar around the top of the well also keeps the dirt from falling in and serves as a foothold for the building over it. The building need not be of elaborate construction. It is only needed to give shelter from the weather.

World of Wheat

H. G. L. Strange,
Director, Research Department,
Searle Grain Company, Ltd.

THE FARMER'S BEST IMPLEMENT - THE FANNING MILL

Weed plants, it is estimated, steal from farmers on the average 20% of the grain they have so laboriously produced. Weed plants grow from weed seeds, and most of the weed seeds on our prairies have been, at some time or another, sown in the ground with grain.

Weeds can be eliminated by keeping in mind two principles. One is not to sow any weeds with the grain seed, and the other is not to permit any weed plants that grow to set seed, and so to scatter additional seeds on the field.

The fanning mill will separate weed seeds from wheat, oats, barley and rye, if care is used. During the winter months the fanning mill should be over-hauled, repaired and fitted with proper screens. Different screens are needed for the different grains to be cleaned, and for the different kinds of weed seeds to be separated.

This all may seem like a lot of trouble to take, but it has often been said that there is nothing that will return the farmer such good dividends as time spent in putting the fanning mill in shape, in using the right screens and particularly in passing the grain slowly and carefully through the mill so that all weed seeds are eliminated. Flax is difficult to clean; special screens are needed. Universities and Provincial Departments of Agriculture can give good advice on the screens required.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

Spain reports that in the province of Murcia winter crops have been destroyed or damaged by the worst floods in thirty years. The first official estimate places Argentina's wheat crop at 167 million bushels which is considerably below average. European winter grains are late, and in most cases have been sown on smaller areas than a year ago.

Canadian wheat and flour exports during the crop year 1943-44 totalled 343,755,320 bushels the third highest total on record. It is reported that Australia is understood to have decided that because of the severe drought this year, all restrictions on areas to be sown to wheat will be abandoned for the 1945-46 season.

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

HOW'S YOUR HEALTH?

How's your health? Is it standing up to the strain of war-time living? One of your best services to yourself and to your nation in these crucial days is to do all that you can to maintain health.

Colds, headaches that tired feeling are warnings that something is wrong. What are you going to do about them?

Here are some health hints that will help you keep fit for the job. Do these things every day.

Get Your Sleep

Get plenty of sleep. Days and nights have been turned topsy turvy, but whatever your bed-time, make sure of your full quota of sleep in a well ventilated, properly darkened room.

Get Your Oxygen

Have some exercise that takes you outdoors every day. A brisk walk, even for a short distance, or some deep breathes at an open window, will put oxygen into your lungs, when you are tired and listless. Remember that your body lives on oxygen as well as food and water.

Eat the Right Food

See that you eat a varied diet, including enough of the protective foods—fresh fruits and vegetables, milk, eggs, meats and whole grain cereals. Don't neglect breakfast or lunch. Make these meals adequate.

Keep the Body Clean

Keep the body clean. Your work may bring you close to grease and dirt. This makes it especially important to clean up when not on the job. Health, as well as that feeling of morale that goes with good grooming demands it.

Always wash hands before eating. Give your teeth proper care. The dentist now has less time for you and if you are on a war job, you have less time for those important dental check-ups.

Give special attention to elimination. A simple home remedy is to drink the juice of a lemon in a glass of water, hot or cold, each morning on rising. Taken every day, this "lemon water" is adequate in providing all the regulation most people need. Harsh laxatives become unnecessary.

Lemons are a food, not a medicine, but their health-building qualities make it as important to keep a supply of them always on the kitchen shelves, as it is to keep the common remedies in your medicine cabinet.

Lemons aid digestion and build body resistance to colds and other infections, as well as counteract fatigue. This fruit is one of the richest sources of vitamin C, which is not stored in the body and must be taken daily.

Prevent That Cold

Prevent that cold. Here again, an ounce or so of lemon juice is truly the ounce of prevention that's worth a pound of cure.

If you are drinking a daily glass of lemon juice and water, chances are much less that you'll be on the absentee list when that cold or flu epidemic goes round.

But if that cold does catch up with you, you may be able to check it quickly by reinforcing your daily glass of lemon and water with additional glasses taken every 2 to 3 hours. If you like, add ½ teaspoon baking soda to each glass, drinking the mixture as foaming quinine. Continue this simple remedy until cold is better.

Simple, are they not—these health hints? Follow them and help keep your health and morale at its highest peak the year around.

COMPARATIVE LIVING COSTS (By Edna Jaques)

Inflation is such an intangible thing. It's hard to get hold of. Well, you can't see wind either, but if you ever saw a dust storm on the prairie, you'd know that wind is the real thing you ever felt.

You can't see love or hate. You can't put your finger on goodwill, you can't take music apart and see what makes it click.

But there are many things that inflation can do.

China can tell you what it did to them. It raised their cost of living 2,100% which is a fantastic figure, but means that rice, their national food, went to $500 a bushel. Sugar to $180 a pound and a small bar of soap to $6. Cotton for making their padded coats sells for $24 a foot.

Turkey can tell you a lot about inflation too. Although outright war has not occurred there, her cost of living for 1944 was up 442%.

Iran (whose capital is Teheran, one of the meeting places of the Big Three) chalks up a cost of living of 886% and whether you live in a harem or a dug-out along the river bank, that spells disaster.

Iceland, that vital outpost on the North Atlantic convoy route, has had greatness thrust upon her, as well as a cost of living cited at 271%.

Canada has kept her cost of living at a mere 117% as compared to these countries and the cost of some items like milk, a food essential to the growth of children and the well being of a nation, has actually gone down.

CHURCH AID IN

REHABILITATION SCHEME

As part of the Canadian army's rehabilitation scheme, a voluntary committee of representatives of Calgary churches was organized last October for the purpose of supplying the names of all discharged personnel in Alberta to home ministers.

Through the offices of Major W. H. Morgan, District Chaplain (Protestant), and Major F. B. Thornton, District Chaplain (Roman Catholic), Military District 13, lists of names from No. 13 District Depot and No. 113 Depot Company, C.W.A.C., are forwarded to ministers in Alberta cities and towns who in turn will contact the former members of their congregations.

Representatives from Anglican, Presbyterian, United, Baptist and Lutheran churches in Calgary form the central committee for the province. Major Morgan explained that men who come back first could form a reception committee for others returning and in that way all discharged personnel would be given every opportunity to become accustomed to civilian life after service in the army. It was also suggested that a local committee be formed in each church.

CANADA'S VETERANS Their Post-War Opportunities

An advertisement explaining to the people of Canada the re-establishment credit available to men and women of the Armed Forces.

The Re-establishment Credit - AN EXPLANATION OF THE GRANT

In planning the return to civilian life of men and women in the armed forces, Canada's parliament realized that assistance in re-establishment must cover a wide variety of fields. For many—particularly younger members of the forces—the best method of effecting permanent re-establishment will be through training or through an opportunity to continue an interrupted education. Others can be assisted through land settlement—either on full time farms or on small holdings operated with some regular form of employment. In many cases a combination of these two things—training and land settlement—will be the solution. Legislation for the re-establishment was provided early in the war.

ANOTHER LARGE GROUP

There is, however, another very large group who need training and who are not suited for land settlement under the Veterans' Land Act. After long months or years in uniform, these veterans will need assistance also. There will be those who have been unable to carry out needed repairs and alterations. There will be those who need business and alterations. There will be those who need business and alterations. There will be those who need business and alterations.

PAID UNDER WAR SERVICE GRANTS ACT

The Re-establishment Credit is made available under the same Act of Parliament which provides War Service Gratitudes. It is not a loan but an outright grant, paid to an eligible veteran to aid in re-establishment if the veteran decides not to use land settlement or training benefits. It may be used in Canada only at any time in the ten years following discharge for certain specified purposes as outlined in this advertisement. The grant is called a "credit" because it is an amount carried on the ledger to the credit of the veteran for ten years until used by him for a re-establishment purpose.

HOW TO APPLY FOR RE-ESTABLISHMENT CREDIT

The re-establishment credit is an amount equal to the basic War Service Gratuity—that is $7.50 for each 30 days' service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each 30 days' service overseas. The amount is computed by the branch of the armed forces with which the veteran served, and for that reason application first must be made for the War Service Gratuity. When a statement showing the amount of the basic gratuity has been received by the veteran, the amount of the re-establishment credit may be made to the Department of Veterans Affairs on a form which may be secured from any district office of the department. Application for the war service gratuity is made to the branch of the armed forces with which the veteran served and forms may be secured at any armed forces depot or at any office of the Department of Veterans Affairs.

any district office of the department. Application for the war service gratuity is made to the branch of the armed forces with which the veteran served and forms may be secured at any armed forces depot or at any office of the Department of Veterans Affairs.

STUDY ALL MEASURES BEFORE APPLYING

It is important that every veteran shall have made a definite decision as to future plans before applying for the re-establishment credit. Payment of the re-establishment credit debars the veteran from educational and training grants and benefits under the Veterans' Land Act, since on application for the credit the veteran elects not to take advantage of these other benefits. Any benefits under the Veterans' Land Act and payments to, or on behalf of the veteran for training or continuation of education already granted are charged against the credit. Do not apply for your re-establishment credit until you have studied all other rehabilitation measures. Advice of department officials is available to assist you.

PURPOSES FOR WHICH CREDIT MAY BE USED

- (a) To assist in home owning;
- (b) To assist in building a home;
- (c) To assist in home repairing or modernization;
- (d) To buy household equipment and furniture;
- (e) To buy tools, instruments, etc., for trade, profession, or business;
- (f) To provide working capital for profession or business;
- (g) To buy a business;
- (h) To pay premiums on Dominion of Canada insurance;
- (i) To buy special equipment required for educational or vocational training.

In the case of (a), (b), (c) and (d) above, the veteran must put up one dollar for every two dollars used from the re-establishment credit. If experience shows a broadening of these purposes is needed, provision has been made for it.

LEMON FLAVORS GOOD-TO-EAT COLD WEATHER DESSERTS

A "No Meat" Mincemeat Pie

Easy on ration points is this lemon Apple Mince pie. It does not call for meat or hard-to-get suet. It is an especial favorite in the mince pie family and is less hearty and easy to make. Young and old may enjoy it freely.

- 1 cup lemon juice
- 1 cup raisins, scalded, drained and chopped
- 3 cups finely chopped apple
- 1/2 cup walnuts or other nuts
- 1/2 cup orange marmalade or candied orange peel
- 2 cups sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon cloves
- 1 teaspoon ginger
- 1/2 cup melted margarine

Combine ingredients. Fill two 8-inch pie shells. Make top crusts of pastry strips in lattice pattern. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 10 minutes, then reduce heat to moderate (350° F.) and bake 30 to 35 minutes longer or until filling is done and crust is browned.

This mincemeat does not require cooking. It may be sealed and kept in sterilized jars for several weeks. Store in refrigerator or other cool place.

Serve Lemon Maple Dumplings

When Sugar Points Are Low

Lemon maple dumplings are that something different which you look for in desserts. The maple syrup used for sweetening saves sugar points. This is an emergency dessert that can be whipped up for unexpected guests. Just be sure to have lemons on hand for the "makings" at any time.

- First prepare a sauce.
- 2 unpeeled, thinly sliced lemons
- 1 teaspoon butter or margarine
- 2 cups maple syrup

Cook in a saucepan until lemon slices look transparent, or about 20 minutes.

While sauce is cooking, prepare this batter:

- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1/3 cup milk
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Measure and sift together flour, salt, baking powder and sugar. Cut in shortening. Add egg, milk and vanilla. Mix and drop by spoonfuls into gently boiling hot maple sauce. Cover tightly and cook over a low flame for 20 minutes without removing cover. A slushy sauce makes it possible to watch dumplings as they cook. This dessert serves 6.

Dessert Doughnuts

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/2 cup sugar

- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1/4 teaspoon lemon extract
- 1 tablespoon melted butter or other shortening
- 1/2 cup milk

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and nutmeg and sift together three times. Add sugar to egg, beating thoroughly; then lemon extract and shortening. Add flour, alternately with milk, mixing after each addition until smooth. Knead lightly on lightly floured board. Roll 1/3 inch thick. Cut with floured 1 1/2 inch doughnut cutter. Fry in deep fat (385° F.) until golden brown, turning frequently. Drain on unglazed paper. Sugar if desired.

Lazy Daisy Salad

Quick to make is this Lazy Daisy Salad. It is one a child can make for himself. Peel an orange and separate the sections. Arrange these in flower pattern on a salad plate, which has been covered with shredded lettuce. In center put a spoonful of raisins. A good accompaniment for this salad is cinnamon toast, or a toasted peanut butter sandwich.

Corn and Cabbage Entree

- 1 box (10-oz.) quick-frozen golden sweet corn
- 1 small head green cabbage
- 1 cup seasoned white sauce
- 1 teaspoon minced onion

Cook corn as directed on package, reserving liquor for use in sauce. Cut cabbage into six sections and cook in large amount of boiling salted water until just tender. Make white sauce, using corn liquor as part of liquid; season. Add corn and onion to sauce, heat thoroughly, and serve over hot cabbage sections. Makes 6 servings.

Corn and Tomato Chowder

- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 2 tablespoons fat
- 2 cups canned or stewed tomatoes
- 1 box (10-oz.) quick-frozen golden sweet corn
- 1/4 teaspoon soda
- 1 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 3 cups milk, scalded

Saute onion, green pepper, and celery in fat until golden brown. Add tomatoes and frozen corn, and cook 5 minutes; then add soda, salt, pepper and sugar. Add to hot milk and serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

SIX MONTH'S NOTICE

BUSINESS TENANTS

After February 1, any landlord of commercial property seeking to occupy it himself in order to continue his own business must give his tenant six month's notice to vacate, instead of the previously required three months. It is still necessary to obtain a permit from the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office before serving notice.

Help Win the War—Buy War Savings Certificates

By Russell L. Gibson & Robert Reeds

There are roughly 300 centres of population in Canada with populations of 2000 or over. It's reasonable to expect that within a year or two after the war, most of these towns and cities will be served by airports of some kind.

In some places, of course, nothing is being done. But in the great majority, town fathers are extremely interested and are taking a highly progressive view.

What is the first thing that a town which is interested in post-war flying should do? The answer to this is pretty obvious to everyone—arouse the interest support of the citizens. What comes next, after the decision to definitely build an airport has been made? The Department of Transport at Ottawa is responsible for licensing all airports which are to be used for commercial flying. Without the department's blessing, no airport can receive a license for commercial flying. The wise town will co-operate with the department from beginning to end. At a town's request, the department will send an inspector to help choose a good site for an airport.

There are many fine technical points in choosing an airport site, such as obstructions, contours of the land and drainage, etc. Aside from these, the main considerations are keeping the airport as close to public transportation and the centre of town as is humanly possible and, secondly, making sound plans based realistically on the size of the town and what its requirements will probably be.

There's no point, for instance, in building a fancy airport capable of handling twin-engine main line aircraft which will not be stopping at anything but the larger cities. Such airports may cost $20,000, $30,000 or even $50,000 or more a year for maintenance alone.

Those who know aviation in Canada say that post-war private flying will develop faster in the prairie provinces than in any part of the country due to weather conditions, the ease of building landing facilities, etc.

Already, 'tis reported, at least one civil servant of a prairie government has made official application to his supervisors for a light, inexpensive plane to use in carrying out his duties after the war.

Ottawa News Letter

WAR STILL FIRST TASK OF OTTAWA

OTTAWA—Members of the Commons and Senate got together for an hour on Jan. 31 to witness prorogation proceedings. Most of them no doubt were thinking about the imminence of a general federal election and must returned to their own ridings to prepare for it. Many came long distances to exchange views with each other and consult party headquarters and Ottawa political leaders.

Mr. Chase made a statement on behalf of the CBC and the Canadian Association of Broadcasters. He said that those who object to the effects of these programs on children should be more specific in their charges. He says it would help if those complaining would specify the programs to which they object and give specific instances of the harm being done.

He agreed that no children's program should be broadcast which would unduly excite the young, or which would by example or suggestion cause or promote juvenile delinquency.

Mr. Chase adds, however, that the public should remember all programs must be made interesting if they are to maintain an audience. It will always be a matter of opinion where the line between audience appeal and undue excitement is drawn.

He says the CBC is opposed to anything in the nature of censorship of radio stations, but with all interests co-operating this should not be necessary.

To offset too extensive a prevalence of the so-called "horror" programs for children, CICA has introduced a new series of programs recently. The series is called "Books Bring Adventure" and consists of dramatic reproductions of the most popular books for children.

The plays are produced in New York and the transcriptions are shipped direct to CICA. This is the only station in Canada carrying this program, which is brought to the listeners jointly by the Edmonton Public Library and CICA.

Important Throne Speech

They heard the longest prorogation throne speech in recent years.

They were certainly exceedingly impressed. The outstanding statement in it was to the effect that, of the big legislative program enacted during the session, practically every measure is now in operation. The speech gave sharp warning that the critical stage of the war is still ahead, demanding a final supreme effort and stressing that winning the war is still the first task of government. But it also envisioned social and economic steps for postwar prosperity for Canadians on a scale never before attempted by any federal administration.

Emphasizing that a high Canadian standard of living depends on export trade, the speech cited the removal of all import duties on agricultural implements as a concrete example of the lead Canada is giving toward wiping out international tariff barriers. This step also keeps down

Why feed hens that are not producing big egg profits? Cull out birds with poor laying physiques... and feed the rest, as follows:

Mix 100 pounds SHUR-GAIN EGMAYER LAYING CONCENTRATE with 400 pounds ground grains (100 lbs. barley; 100 lbs. oats; 200 lbs. wheat) to make a high production laying mash. Feed one-half mash, one half scratch. Leave mash in front of hens at all times. Feed scratch morning and evening.

How long is 3 weeks, Ivan?

• Hitler boasted he would smash Russia in three weeks... Ivan's courage, resourcefulness and fighting skill have already spun those three weeks into a third year.

What is three weeks... what is Time itself to Ivan but a succession of minutes, each one marked by the fall of a Nazi soldier.

We have helped Ivan destroy Hitler's time-table by sending planes, tanks, guns, shells, food. It is a proud thing to share even a little in Russia's triumph to this hour.

We who make high-proof alcohol for the smokeless powder in Ivan's high explosives also have a special way of measuring Time. In our plants, wholly converted to war production, we mark the passing of each hour by the thousands of gallons of high-proof alcohol flowing from our giant stills. Three weeks, three months, three years... it will go on flowing until the last Axis soldier has laid down either his body or his arms... in unconditional surrender!

THE HOUSE OF SEAGRAM

ALCOHOL FOR WAR IS USED IN SYNTHETIC RUBBER, HARMONICS, SHATTERPROOF GLASS AND OTHER PRODUCTS. EVERY SEAGRAM PLANT IN CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES IS ENGAGED 100% IN THE PRODUCTION OF HIGH-PROOF ALCOHOL FOR WAR.

Two years ago, we of The House of Seagram published this advertisement in tribute to the heroic Russian soldier. Today, we are repeating this message in renewed tribute to the millions of Ivans whose "courage, resourcefulness and fighting skill" have now freed Russian soil and beaten the enemy back to the very threshold of Berlin.

HERE'S MY FEED PROBLEM...

What is the most important thing to look for when feeding young chicks?

HERE'S THE ANSWER...

Be sure to feed a balanced feed—one that contains all the necessary food value in exact balanced proportions. That is why so many poultrymen use "Miracle" Chick Starter. "Miracle" Chick Starter is sure because it is tested. Just ask for "Miracle" Chick Starter and your feed problems are over.

GREENSHIELDS

Several district residents are attending the Tractor and Farm Machinery Course in Wainwright.Plan to attend the Box Social and Jamboree, sponsored by the War
Service League in the Greenshields hall on Friday evening February 18.
Mr. Coutts, inspector of schools, visited the local school on Friday afternoon.Major and Mrs. W. R. G. Morrison arrived from the East on Saturday morning for a visit with Mrs. Morrison's mother.February 14th was celebrated at the school by a Valentine party.
Due to the inclement weather the War Service League Box Social and Jamboree which was to have been held in the hall Friday the 16th, was postponed until Friday, Feb. 23rd.

GERALD

The Farm Forum broadcast of last week was on the subject "Are Commodity Exchanges Necessary?" and this subject was well discussed at the meeting, which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hamilton.
A novel method of transportation was used, most of the members arriving in a sleigh pulled by a tractor.
Drifting snows have blocked many roads and travelling is difficult.In spite of the cold, a pleasant party was held at Gerald school on Friday afternoon. The Junior Red Cross were in charge of this affair, with Gordon McMann presiding and Della Christopherson, Clara Campbell and Lyle McMann as the program committee. The sum of $4.50 was made for the Junior Red Cross.
